

Animal Products

The Regulatory Landscape

Different products, different agencies.

From tongue to tail, different regulatory bodies are responsible for providing guidance across various types of pet products.

Regulatory guidance that won't leave you chasing your tail.

Shook, Hardy & Bacon attorneys can provide experienced counsel to minimize the risk of costly enforcement actions and safeguard your company's reputation in the wake of a recall. We protect our clients' interests with regulators, in the media and through litigation.